ALEXANDER RULES AGAIN

Australian overcomes grueling conditions to retain Ironman title

By Howard Chan

It was a hard-fought battle for the title of the world's toughest triathlon, but it was a battle that the Australian triathlete, Craig Alexander, won again.

The 37-year-old triathlete, who is also the world's oldest triathlete, won the title for the second time in his career. He had won the title in 2007, when he beat a field of 100 other triathletes to win the title.
